LIGHT COMPANY BUYS PROPERTY

Will Locate Transformer on York Street. Charters for Three Different Township Concerns.

Interests connected with the Hanover Light, Heat and Power Company have purchased from Max Davis the property on York street formerly a part of the Codori holdings, and now the residence of Emory Forrest. The house will be used as a transforming station by the new concern as soon as its lines have been extended to Gettysburg and the transfer of the property of the Gettysburg Light Company is made.

To-day there was started the formal legal advertising of charter notices for the Union Township Light and Power Company, the Mt. Pleasant Township Light and Power Company, and the Gettysburg Electric Company. The first named is to supply light, heat and power in Union township, the second in Mt. Pleasant, and the third in Strasburg. This marks another step in the work of completing the transfer of the Gettysburg company to the interests controlling the Hanover concern.

As formerly stated in these columns, which gave the first information of the impending change, all the lines of the Gettysburg Light Company will be taken over when the transfer is made and local consumers will get their current from Hanover. The plant of the Gettysburg company will continue to be held by the Gettysburg Railway Company and Mr. Turner will continue as manager of that concern.

It is the plan of the interests controlling the Hanover Light, Heat, and Power Company to supply electric current all along the line to rural persons who care to avail themselves of this convenience and it is probable that numerous country homes will have electricity for lighting before many years have passed around.

The connection of the new line with that now established will be made at the Conewago township line, near the covered bridge on the road between Bonneauville and McSherrytown. From there it will follow the accepted route to Gettysburg.

There are numerous details to be worked out in connection with the transfer, all of which are being attended to with reasonable speed and the actual transfer is regarded as only a matter of time.

NEW SCHOOL FOR FOUR DISTRICTS

Vocational High School under Control of Boards of Three Townships and One Borough now Planned.

With every prospect of being carried through to a successful issue, the proposition has been launched to establish a first class vocational high school in Arendtsville, for the pupils of that town, Butler, Menallen, and Franklin townships. The plan is decidedly the most progressive and ambitious advocated in any portion of the county for years. It has already been ratified by Arendtsville and Butler. If either Menallen or Franklin, or both, take up the idea it will be carried out.

The project provides for four or five teachers, and the teaching of agriculture, home making, and manual training. If requirements are met, the State Board of Education will pay two-thirds of the salaries of all teachers, and in addition, will contribute $500 annually toward the support of the school. The vocational high school would be governed by the joint boards of all the districts included in its scope.

At the present time the pupils of the various districts mentioned go to Arendtsville High School after finishing the grades, their tuition being paid by the townships from which they come though the boards of those townships have nothing to say in the government of the high school. Under the new plan these boards would have joint authority. The grades would not be affected.

If the project is carried out, the boys attending the high school must devote one half of each day during the first two years to agriculture, while the girls must devote the same time to the study of home making. The basement of the new Arendtsville school would be used for the former while the old building would be fitted up at little expense for the latter. At the end of the first two years the pupils are allowed to decide whether or not they shall continue in this way or shall adopt an entire academic course. During the first half of their course they must take at least two academic studies.

The man to have charge of the agricultural work must, according to the state requirements, have been born on a farm and must be a graduate of a recognized agricultural school. He is required to conduct night school during the winter months for farmers who may wish to attend, and he is employed the year round, superintending work of the boys on individual farms during the summer months.

State educational authorities have gone over the situation as outlined to the boards of the four school districts mentioned and they are eager to give whatever help they can to see the establishment of the vocational high school.

Numerous applications are being received for just such help but the nature of the community from an agricultural standpoint, as well as the progressive character of the people concerned, make Arendtsville an exceptionally desirable place for the establishment of just such a school.

If the Franklin and Menallen boards show as much interest in the plan as Arendtsville and Butler township have, there will be no doubt of a successful issue to the whole project which will place Adams County well in the lead in adopting modern methods.

There were in the Arendtsville High School this year no less than forty one pupils. The number next year will be increased, and some of the three year pupils will doubtless come back for the extra year should the new course be taken up.

BUILD ADDITION TO ENGINE HOUSE

Will Cost the Town $1050 to Provide Accommodations for New Motor Driven Apparatus. Other Business.

To house the new Boyd fire fighting apparatus, the town council, at an adjourned session Friday evening, gave the contract for the erection of a one story addition to the engine house to Levi Diehl at a bid of $1053.60. The only other bidder was H. James Weikert who asked $1070.50.

The building will be of brick construction 17 x 36 feet, and will have a boiler room attached. It is to be completed in a month's time. It will be financed through the $500 provided in the year's budget and $500 additional taken from the $8000 appropriation for permanent street improvement and provided in an ordinance for bond issue presented Friday evening. The bond issue is for $10,000 and will be divided as follows: $7500 for permanent street improvement; $2000 toward purchase of fire engine; $500 toward erection of building. The ordinance was passed by unanimous vote.

Wm. Arch McClean Esq. reported on the recent visit to Harrisburg of the committee on street building. He said that the State Highway Department was not acquainted with Gettysburg's claims to improvements on the ground that Baltimore and Chambersburg streets were taken over as a part of the old turnpike, and that the state was liable for their upkeep. Department officials agreed to take the matter under consideration.

It was reported to council that Mr. Caldwell, superintendent of the Gettysburg Water Company, declared no discrimination against patrons could be shown, in refusing to issue sprinkling permits on streets that had been oiled. He declared, said the report, that the only way council could meet the situation was by passing an ordinance prohibiting all street sprinkling.

George W. Gangwisch, proprietor of the Hotel Wabash, asked permission to place a banner 18 x 2 feet across Baltimore street, declaring that it would be above the trolley wire, not dangerous, and that the nearby property owners would voice no objection. Council was under the impression that all such signs were a matter for police regulation, and the question was referred to the burgess for a report at the next meeting.

Further action was taken to secure the opening of the alley in the rear of West Middle street.

SECOND BANQUET

After the supper a business meeting was held at which it was decided to hold bi-monthly sessions during the winter. Dr. John E. Meisenholder was re-elected president; and Ralph J. S. Hoffacker, secretary.

YELLOW'S KILLING THE PEACH TREES

Mountain Growers Say Old Pest has Returned and Damage is Great. Adams County Orchards have Escaped.

The blight known as yellows has made its appearance in some of the orchards of peach growers in the Blue Ridge mountain section and, judging from the rapid progress it is making in its spread, hundreds of trees are doomed to quick destruction. The leaves on the peach trees are turning yellow and drying up.

Peach growers in Adams County report that none of the pest has yet appeared here this year. One of the most extensive orchardists said this morning:

"The yellows appeared in my orchard last season but I quickly took out every tree that was infected and this spring I haven't found one tree that shows any signs of the disease. It is exceedingly contagious and the chances are that, if I had left the sick trees standing last year, I would have almost an epidemic in those parts of the orchard this spring."

"There is no known cure for the yellows so far as we have been able to discover. The removal of the diseased trees is the one and only method of stamping it out, and Adams County growers do not hesitate a moment to adopt this plan."

"The source of the yellows is not known. Nurseries are frequently blamed for selling young trees that are tainted with the disease, which frequently does not develop until they have attained considerable growth. Our peach growers are so alert, however, to the dangers of a general spread of the yellows that it is likely the disease will never get much of a start here."

PITCH FORK IN BROTHER'S HEAD

Horrible Accident on Farm Near Glenville when Sleeping Youth has Skull Penetrated by Sharp Tine.

Charles Taylor, about 30 years old, is lying in a critical condition at his home in Codorus township, near Glenville, as the result of an accident, shortly before noon Thursday, when his brother, Clayton, aged 20 years, tossed a hay fork through the hay hole. One of the prongs of the fork penetrated the skull of Charles who was sleeping in the hay mow above. The condition of Mr. Taylor, who is suffering from hemorrhages of the brain and paralysis of the right side of the face, left arm, and left leg, to-day was reported by the attending physician to be serious.

The injured man, who is married and tills the farm of his mother, Mrs. William Taylor, went to the barn shortly before noon Thursday for the purpose of feeding the stock, it is said. Feeling a little drowsy he lay down on the hay mow along side of the hay hole and fell asleep. When his brother, Clayton, arrived at the barn and saw that the stock had not been fed, he prepared to do so, and threw the fork through the hay hole, with the purpose in view of tossing down some hay.

One of the steel prongs of the fork struck Taylor directly above the right eye, penetrating the flesh, skull and tissue of the brain. To what depth the prong pierced the brain is not known. Hearing the scream of his brother, Clayton hurriedly ascended the ladder, finding the former there in an unconscious condition. He secured assistance and removed him to the house and Dr. William H. Danner, of Glenville, was summoned. Taylor has been in a semi-conscious condition since the accident occurred.

FOUR HOTELS GO

Fell Prey to Fire Following the Dry Zone Law.

The total destruction by fire Wednesday night of the Wantz hotel at Highfield makes the fourth hotel that has been swept out of existence by fire in that immediate locality. Fifteen years ago there were four flourishing hotels, or resort places at Highfield: the Wantz, the Musselman, Shatzer's and Hotel Maryland. Hundreds of summer tourists were entertained at these places, all within a stone's throw of the railroad station and of each other. They had licenses and enjoyed a large bar trade.

Then came the Maryland dry zone law that cut out all licenses on the Maryland side of the line in the Blue Ridge resort region. The Highfield houses were hard hit and their business rapidly declined.

All now are in ashes. Shatzer's house led off, then Musselman's, then Hotel Maryland, and now the Wantz place. None of the burned resorts was rebuilt and in the Shatzer and Musselman cases cottages have gone up on the old hotel sites.

Whether Wantz will rebuild is not known, but if he follows precedent he will not, at least not a hotel. So long as the region remains "dry" there will be no incentive to build hotels there.

Way of the Practical Man.

The practical man—an especial favorite in this age—often takes the field with the single fact against a great principle. In the reckless spirit of one who would not hesitate to sever the thread on which he is unable to string his own individual pearl—perhaps a false one—even though he should scatter many jewels worthy of a prince's diadem.—By Arthur Helps.

Fishing With a Worm.

To make the most of dull hours, to make the best of dull people, to like a poor jest better than none, to wear the threadbare coat like a gentleman, to be outwitted with a smile, to hitch your wagon to the old horse if no star is handy—this is the wholesome philosophy taught by fishing with a worm.—From "Fishing With a Worm," by Bliss Perry.

800 TROOPS COME OUT OF MEXICO

Cavalrymen Are the First to Return.

WILL PATROL THE BORDER

U. S. Forces Arrive at Columbus After
Riding Through a Blinding Dust Storm.

El Paso, Tex., May 20.—Eight hundred American cavalrymen arrived at the expeditionary base at Columbus, N. M., riding from Mexico through a blinding duststorm.

The troops, the first to be withdrawn since the despatch of the expedition nine weeks ago, went into camp in the military reservation at Columbus.

A despatch from San Antonio, General Funston's headquarters, said: "In order to give adequate protection to residents in the Big Bend district, the Sixth Cavalry, which arrived in Columbus, was withdrawn from General Pershing's column. It will be sent on patrol duty along the border east and west of Boquillas."

This redispotion of troops follows General Scott's border conference with General Obregon at El Paso, and bandit raids in the Big Bend country, from which a small American expeditionary force under Colonel Sibley has been operating.

Rosalba Hernandez, with 300 armed followers, is camping at Rancho de Encinillas, 165 miles south of the border and forty miles south of where the second American expeditionary forces under Sibley camped. According to reports to Marathon, Texas, Hernandez has a total of 500 men in the immediate vicinity of his headquarters.

Hernandez, it is reported, does not subject himself or his followers to the dictation of either Carranza or Villa. It is not positively known whether the Glenn Springs and Boquillas raiders were connected with his band, but it is said he made no effort to apprehend them upon their retreat through his lines.

It was said that Sibley's expeditionary column is expected to reach Boquillas last Saturday, unless advised to remain on Mexican soil or is reinforced with more cavalry. Major Langhorne, with the Eighth Cavalry, is trailing behind Colonel Sibley and may not reach the border until late Sunday or Monday.

Francisco Villa, in search of whom the first expedition was sent into Mexico, is operating south of Parral under an assumed name, according to a story current in Chihuahua City and brought here by travelers. They said the bandit, using the name of Augustin Garcia, which he employed at times in the days before he became a military leader, had gathered a force of 200 men in the neighborhood of Borjas.

General Gavira, commander of the garrison at Juarez, said his investigation of the killing of Sergeant Henry Furnam, of the Twenty-third Infantry, developed that only one man was concerned in the shooting. This man, who is under arrest, says he grabbed the bridle of Furnam's horse, bringing him to a halt, and that the American opened fire on him. The Mexican then returned the fire, according to Gavira.

Army men said they could not understand how, if Furnam fired first, he could have missed his man at such close quarters, as he was considered a good shot.

Cowboys Kill Fifteen Outlaws.

Field Headquarters, near Nampulpa, May 20 (via wireless to Columbus, N. M.).—Twenty-five Mexican cowboys, from the Hearst ranch at Babicora broke and scattered a newly formed band of bandits near Madera, about a week ago, killing fifteen, wounding one and capturing six.

The band had been organized by Ateztro Dominguez and Pedro Castillo, who announced their enmity for Americans and Carranza followers. After the theft of a number of horses from the Hearst ranch, the bandits began guerilla warfare.

140,000 Canadians Training.

Ottawa, May 20.—Canada has in training 140,000 recruits at the present time and to date has sent 170,000 men overseas. These figures were presented in the Canadian parliament just before its session ended. The call for reinforcements brought out men in greater numbers in the first four months this year than in any other equal period during the conflict.

Tries to Slay Daughter.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 20.—Angered because his young daughter, Mrs. Joseph Free, sixteen years old, had married a man to whom he objected, Thomas Auslin, Edwardsville, shot at the girl, and then took his own life. The shot fired at Mrs. Free went wild and she escaped before he could fire at her a second time.

Man Accused by Daughter Lynched. McNair, Miss., May 20.—N. G. Tally, a farmer, charged by his daughter with thrashing and attempting to attack her, was lynched by a vigilance committee. His body was thrown in a creek.

METHODISTS ELECT ALL BUT ONE BISHOP

The General Conference Selects Four.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 20.—After the announcement that Rev. Adna W. Leonard, of Seattle, Washington, had been elected bishop by the Methodist general conference on the tenth ballot, Dr. Matt S. Hughes was also chosen for a bishop on the twelfth ballot, and Dr. William F. Oldham, of New York, and Dr. Charles B. Mitchell, of Chicago, were elected on the fifteenth ballot taken by the conference.

That left but one more bishop to be chosen. Dr. Herbert Welch, of Delaware, Ohio, and Dr. Thomas Nicholson, of New York, were elected on Thursday.

Leonard, for many years prominent in Methodism, is only forty-one years old, being the third bishop of the Methodist church to be elected at so young an age.

Hughes, of Pasadena, Cal., was in second place on the tenth ballot, with 420 voters, which was ninety-nine less than necessary for election. Slight gains were also made by Secretary William F. Oldham, of the board of foreign missions; Franklin Hamilton, chancellor of the American University, Washington; Charles D. Mitchell, of Chicago, and Ernest G. Richardson, Brooklyn.

There was no choice on the eleventh ballot, on the twelfth ballot M. S. Hughes received 549 votes, or four more than was necessary. He is a brother of Bishop Edwin P. Hughes, of San Francisco.

WON'T RELAX BLOCKADE

Lord Cecil Declares Pressure on Central Empires Will Continue.

London, May 20.—Replying to the German suggestion that Great Britain, in response to the change in the German submarine campaign, should modify the food blockade, Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, said there was not the remotest possibility that British economic pressure on the central powers would be relaxed.

He said: "We maintain that the blockade is fully legal under international law. Its reprisal character is merely incidental, called forth by German use of submarines, but the rigid enforcement of the blockade is merely an extension of our rights which we had not hitherto found it expedient to use."

T. R. ATTACKS PEACE POLICY

Calls Its Advocates a Menace to the Country.

MAY BE KEYNOTE SPEECH

Roosevelt Likens Attitude of Pacifists to That of Tories and Civil War
Copperheads.

Detroit, May 20.—Colonel Roosevelt unlimbered his guns and began fire upon Henry Ford and other pacifists who teach the doctrine of peace without preparedness, in a speech which was the feature of "American Day" in this city, arranged by the chamber of commerce.

The speech was delivered at a mass meeting in a theatre, and was cheered by a crowd which filled every seat. "Americanism and Preparedness" was the subject of his talk, and in it he called the pacifists of today the prototypes of the Copperheads of 1864 and the Tories of the American revolution.

While primarily the speech was delivered as a blow at the Detroit apostle of peace propaganda, who sent an ark and doves across the Atlantic waters to stop the war in Europe, the colonel, during his talk of more than an hour and a half succeeded in laying before his auditors a fairly complete "confession of faith" in the value of the "big stick" as applied in international relations.

He announced at the beginning that his talk was in no way to be considered as political in nature, but many persons in the large audience declared it easily might be considered a campaign keynote, a platform or declaration of principles such as any candidate might place before the public.

"I freely admit," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that no man ought to back me or support the policies for which I stand unless with the clear understanding that these are straight-out American policies, not policies in the interest of some other nation against my own, and that our citizens do play my game precisely to the extent that they support such straight-out American policies."

The colonel expressed great admiration for Mr. Ford's character and his treatment of his employees, and referring to those latter said philanthropic Belgian employees of the Ford type before the war treated their workers well and decried preparedness for war, just as Mr. Ford has done. These Belgian workpeople today are in poverty; they cannot find work to do except at the behest of the conqueror and their employers' fine theories have resulted only in disaster and woe. Similar conditions exist in Korea, said the speaker, on account of Japan's conquest of that country. Japan, however, he said, has treated Korea well, whereas Belgium has suffered frightfully under German domination.

"What I have said," continued Colonel Roosevelt, "can with truth be said of many, perhaps of most of the Tories of the revolutionary war and of many or most of the pacifists of the civil war, the extremists among whom were popularly known as Copperheads. Many of these Tories and civil war pacifists were men of fine character and upright purpose, who sincerely believed in the cause they advocated. They included all the men who were pacifists of their day."

"These pacifists, who formed so large a proportion of the old-time Tories and Copperheads, adored and denounced the militarism of Washington in 1776 and of Lincoln in 1861. They were against all war and all preparedness for war. In the revolutionary contest they insisted that Washington was the embodiment of anarchic militarism."

Like Mr. Ford, said Colonel Roosevelt, these pacifists proposed to get the "boys" of Bunker Hill and Valley Forge and the "boys" of the army of the Potomac out of the trenches by Christmas. "If these pacifists of the revolution and the civil war had had their way," the speaker declared, "they would have put an immediate stop to much suffering and much loss of life. They would have secured the applause of every peace-at-any-price man at home and abroad. And unwittingly they would have utterly ruined this nation. They would have prevented its being a nation."

Mr. Roosevelt declared there are only two great issues—Americanism and Preparedness. "As a people," he said, "we have to decide whether we are to be in good faith a people and able and ready to take care of ourselves; or whether we doubt our national unity and fear to prepare, and intend instead to trust partly to a merciful Providence and partly to eleventh-hour ability in high places. Those in power at Washington have taken the latter position. The followers of Mr. Ford in the Republican primaries have taken what is in reality the same position. Why should the people change their government if they are merely to change slightly the degree of unpreparedness?"

German Plane Felled by American. Paris, May 20.—Corporal Kiffin Rockwell, of Atlanta, Ga., a member of the American flying squadron, attacked a German aeroplane operating near Hartmannsweilerkopf. The German machine was brought down in flames.

TAKES THE STING FROM SHIP BILL

House Strikes Out Competitive Sections.

Washington, May 20.—The Republicans in the house "stole a march" on the Democrats during the voting on the administration shipping bill, and in the absence of many of the majority members took the "sting" out of it by striking out sections providing for competition by army and navy vessels in time of peace with privately owned American craft.

The section authorizing the government to purchase, lease or charter vessels for use as naval auxiliaries or transports and put them in the merchant marine in time of peace, was stricken out by a vote of 106 to 90 in the committee of the whole.

Chairman Alexander insisted the defeat was entirely due to the failure of the Democrats to be present, and that the section doubtless would be restored when the house resumed its regular sessions.

When the agreed time for voting on armaments arrived, only a third of the bill had been read.

The section designed to permit the navy and war departments to put ships not in use into the merchant trade in time of peace was defeated, 153 to 129.

SAY FRENCH LOSS APPALLING

Enormous Forces of Troops Concentrated in Small Area.

Berlin, May 20.—Heavy losses are being suffered by the French at Verdun, despite their earthworks, because of the enormous number of troops they have concentrated within a comparatively small area there, according to a correspondent at the Verdun front quoted by the Overseas News agency. French prisoners, says the correspondent, declare the destruction wrought by German artillery is not only appalling among the troops on the firing line, but also among the reserves.

The writer praises the bravery of the French soldiers and remarks on the notable lines of earthworks they have constructed, not only before the battle, but even to a greater degree during its progress.

Two Perish When Home Burns

Kittanning, Pa., May 20.—While rescuers hammered on a bolted door in a futile effort to awaken them, Felix Premix and Frank Gevel were burned to death in their shanty at the Kiskiminetas bridge, near Freeport, where they were employed by a contracting firm. When the rescuers succeeded in chopping down the door both men were dead.

Bryan Nebraska Peace Delegate.

Lincoln, Neb., May 20.—Governor Morehead, of Nebraska, named William J. Bryan a delegate to the meeting of the League to Enforce Peace at Washington, May 26 and 27. Other delegates from Nebraska are the congressmen and senators from the state.

Rides 64 Miles to Escape Licking.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 20.—Fearing a thrashing by his father, John W. Johnson, a fourteen-year-old boy of Lewistown, Pa., rode sixty-four miles to this city on a bicycle. The police sent him home to his father and his inevitable "licking."

Taken From Jail for Operation.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 20.—Walter Headrick was taken from the Dauphin county jail, where he is awaiting trial for stealing a bicycle, to the Harrisburg hospital for an appendicitis operation.

The Weather.

Forecast for this section: Fair and continued cool today and tomorrow, brisk west winds.

INTEGRITY—and the House —behind the Tire

THE greatest Word in the whole Lexicon of Commerce is NOT "Service!"

It is "INTEGRITY!"

Because, that term embodies Good-faith,—Dependability,—the Intention to play fair, at any cost, as well as good Service.

Its essence, so far as business is concerned, consists in living up to the last letter of that Americanism,—"The Square Deal."

It demands from its practitioners not only a due respect for the Rights of Others (whether they be strong enough to enforce these Rights, or weak enough to be at the mercy of the strong) but goes farther.

It implies a charitable attitude toward those well-meaning persons who see "Rainbows," and who cannot live up to promises they really intended to keep.

An old-fashioned Virtue is this "Business Integrity,"—sometimes crowded close to the Wall by that modern idolatry called "Business-Expediency."

But,—there being something MORE than Money, worth striving for, in Business-Expansion, (as well as Money) this old-fashioned Virtue lives on, thrives and flourishes, in many quarters, like the Folk-Songs of a Nation that never die.

May we here pay tribute to "BUSINESS-INTEGRITY," wherever it abides, and,—with all due modesty,—CLAIM it as the Watch-word which has ruled Goodrich Activities over 47 years of Rubber Manufacturing, Selling, and DELIVERING?

"BUT,—does this Policy of Business-Integrity pay, in Dollars and Cents?" the Cynic may inquire.

From even that cold-blooded standpoint we may answer (to the growing youth of this country) YES!—it HAS paid even in material Success.

—Witness the Goodrich growth from a very small "Acorn" indeed, to the 90 Square ACRES of Floor Space in the largest Rubber Factory of the World,—at Akron,—requiring 15 Square ACRES of Window-Glass alone to light these Goodrich Factory buildings.

—Witness the Tire Output of 1915 which, if the Tires were placed flat on the ground in a row, would reach more than 1,400 Miles,—from New York City to Omaha,—although Tires are only one of the 267 lines of Rubber Goods made by Goodrich.

—Witness the present Staff of 18,147 People, who produce the 120,000,000 pounds of Rubber Goods, manufactured, marketed, and shipped, during the year, by Freight, from this Goodrich Factory, in addition to the 10,000,000 pounds manufactured and shipped by Express, from same Factory during same period.

Contrast this Goodrich Rubber Goods Output, with the total Imports of Crude Rubber into the entire United States, during 1915,—viz:—172,068,428 pounds,—and the total WORLD Consumption of Crude-Rubber for same year,—viz:—142,000 Tons, or 284,000,000 pounds!

Then, who shall question that the Goodrich Watch-word and Policy, of "INTEGRITY FIRST" pays, even in material Results.

—This, exclusive of the Good-will, Prestige, and Public Confidence that flows from 47 years consistent practice of such a Policy, which may well be worth as much more, in personal satisfaction, to each Goodrich Stockholder, each enthusiastic Officer, and each loyal Employee of the B. F. Goodrich Co.

But, "How does this Concern YOU, the Consumer?"—you now ask.

It concerns you, first of all, as a proof that Square-dealing, Straight-thinking,—and Business-Integrity PAYS,—even in Coin of the Realm.

It concerns each Parent,—and the Son and Daughter of each Parent,—as a vivid demonstration of the fact that the modern god of "Expediency," is a false god,—and that all the brilliant feats, and dexterous manipulation of facts, which pass current as "Expediency" are needless, for permanent Success.

It concerns the Consumer of, or the Dealer in, Rubber Goods because he knows that, in dealing with a House of Integrity he can TRUST the Statements, the Products and Trade-Marks, of such a House, implicitly,—can save Time and Trouble and can abandon that costly and unpleasant Watchfulness which is necessarily involved in buying anything under the old Law of Caveat Emptor, (let the Buyer beware).

WHEN, therefore, the largest Rubber Factory in the World (with a 47 year Experience in Rubber-Working) and 47 years of Business-Integrity, Good faith demonstration, and Square-dealing, TELLS you that Money can't buy BETTER Fabric Tires, at any price than Goodrich Fabric Tires at their very moderate "Fair List" price,—you can well AFFORD to believe it.

When they tell you that nothing but Business Integrity prevents their charging you prices as high as those charged for other Makes of Tires, of no better quality, you can rely upon this:—

The difference in price is then a REAL Saving.

It is the Cash Value, to you, of dealing with a House which has made "Integrity" its Watch-word through 47 years of Rubber Manufacturing and Selling, and which has never yet sacrificed Principle to Profit, nor Good-faith to Expediency.

Then accept this SAVING which Goodrich Integrity brings to you every time you buy the best Fabric Tires in America, at the following "Fair List" prices:

Goodrich "Barefoot" Tires

LIGHT in weight, and close grained,—because relatively free from inert substances or "fillers" that give excess Weight to Rubber, at the expense of Liveliness, Springiness and Endurance, Goodrich Safety-tread Tires, of black "Barefoot" Rubber, are therefore Lively, Springy, Clingy, and Long-lived.

Through their high Pneumatic quality, they give "Pep" to Car-Action, while stretching out Mileage, per Dollar invested, in a way that sets Users thinking.

More than 200 different Makes and Brands of Auto Tires were made and sold in U. S. A. last year, 1915, to the total extent of about 12,000,000 Automobile Tires.

Of that 12,000,000 total Tires, the B. F. Goodrich Co. made and sold one-fourth.

Yet,—Tires are only one of the 267 different lines made by the Goodrich Rubber Factory.

This indicates why Goodrich Best-in-the-Market Fabric Tires can be, and are, sold to Consumers (via Dealers) at the lowest price in America per delivered Mile of Performance.

"Integrity" of Construction, and Square-Deal in Treatment of Consumers and Dealers, results in our holding this largest business in America on Bicycle Tires, as well as on Truck Tires,—and Automobile Tires.

CHAPTER XVII.

A Thrilling Rescue.

"I THINK you have had the escape of your life, young fellow, my lad. It was catchin' those Indians that put you clean out of their heads, else they would have been back to the camp for you, as sure as fate, and gathered you in. Of course, as you said, they have been watchin' us from the beginnin' out of that tree, and they knew perfectly well that we were one short. However, they could think only of this new haul. So it was I and not a bunch of apes that dropped in on you in the morning. Well, we had a horrid business afterward, my God, what a nightmare the whole thing is! You remember the great battle of sharp canes down below, where we found the skeleton of the American? Well, that is just under the jumpin' off place, of their prisoners. I expect there's heaps of skeletons there, if we looked for 'em. They have a sort of clear parade ground on the top, and they make a proper ceremony about it. One by one the poor devils have to jump, and the game is to see whether they are merely dashed to pieces or whether they get skewered on the canes. They took us out to see it, and the whole tribe lined up on the edge. Four of the Indians jumped, and the canes went through 'em like knifin' needles through a pat of butter. No wonder we found that poor Yankee's skeleton with the canes growin' between his ribs. It was horrible—but it was doozily interestin' too. We were all fascinated to see them take the dive, even when we thought it would be our turn next on the springboard."

"Well, it wasn't. They kept six of the Indians up for today—that's how I understand it—but I fancy we were to be the star performers in the show. Challenger might get off, but Summerlee and I were in the bill. Their language is more than half wags, and it was not hard to follow them. So I thought it was time we made a break for it."

"So I broke away early this mornin', gave my guard a kick in the tummy that laid him out and sprinted for the camp. There I got you and the guns, and here we are."

"But the professors?" I cried in consternation.

"Well, we must just go back and fetch 'em. I couldn't bring 'em with me. Challenger was up the tree, and Summerlee was not fit for the effort. The only chance was to get the guns and try a rescue. Of course they may scupper them at once in revenge. I don't think they would touch Challenger, but I wouldn't answer for Summerlee. But they would have had him in any case. Of that I am certain. So I haven't made matters any worse by bolting. But we are honor bound to go back and have them out or see it through with them. So you had better make up your soul, young fellow, my lad, for it will be one way or the other before evenin'."

"Off we started, and when we reached the edge of the cliff I looked over and saw our good old black Zambos sitting smoking on a rock below us. I would have given a great deal to have hailed him and told him how we were placed, but it was too dangerous lest we should be heard. The woods seemed to be full of the ape-men. Again and again we heard their curious clicking chatter. At such times we plunged into the nearest clump of bushes and lay still until the sound had passed away. Our advance therefore was very slow, and two hours at least must have passed before I saw by Lord John's cautious movements that we must be close to our destination. He motioned to me to lie still, and he crawled forward himself. In a minute he was back again, his face quivering with eagerness."

"Come!" said he. "Come quick! I hope to the Lord we are not too late already."

I found myself shaking with nervous excitement as I scrambled forward and lay down beside him, looking out through the bushes at a clearing which stretched before us.

A wide, open space lay before us, some hundreds of yards across, all green turf and low bracken growing to the very edge of the cliff. Round this clearing there was a semicircle of trees with curious huts built of foliage piled one above the other among the branches. A rookery, with every nest a little house, would best convey the idea. The openings of these huts and the branches of the trees were thronged with a dense mob of ape people, whom from their size I took to be the females and infants of the tribe. They formed the background of the picture and were all looking out with eager interest at the same scene which fascinated and bewildered us.

In the open and near the edge of the cliff there had assembled a crowd of some hundred of these shaggy, red-haired creatures, many of them of immense size, and all of them horrible to look upon. There was a certain discipline among them, for none of them attempted to break the line which had been formed. In front there stood a small group of Indians—little, clean-shaven, red fellows, whose skulls glowed like polished bronze in the strong sunlight. A tall, thin white man was standing beside them, his head bowed, his arms folded, his whole attitude expressive of his horror and dejection. There was no mistaking the angular form of Professor Summerlee.

In front of and around this dejected group of prisoners were several ape men, who watched them closely and made all escape impossible. Then, right out from all the others and close to the edge of the cliff, were two figures, so strange, and under other circumstances so ludicrous, that they absorbed my attention. The one was our comrade, Professor Challenger. The remains of his coat still hung in strips from his shoulders, but his shirt had been all torn out, and his great beard covered itself in the black tangle which merged his mighty chest. He had lost his hat, and his hair, which had grown long in our wanderings, was flying in wild disorder. A single day seemed to have changed him from the highest product of modern civilization to the most desperate savage in South America. Beside him stood his master, the king of the ape-men. In all things he was, as Lord John had said, the very image of our professor, save that his coloring was red instead of black. The same short broad figure, the same heavy shoulders, the same forward hang of the arms, the same bristling beard merging itself in the hairy chest. Only above the eyebrows, where the sloping forehead and low, curved skull of the broad man were in sharp contrast to the broad brow and magnificent cranium of the European, could one see any marked difference. At every other point the king was an absurd parody of the professor.

All this, which takes me so long to describe, impressed itself upon me in a few seconds. Then we had very different things to think of, for an active drama was in progress. Two of the ape-men had seized one of the Indian out of the group and dragged him forward to the edge of the cliff. The king raised his hand as a signal. They caught the man by his leg and arm and swung him three times backward and forward with tremendous violence. Then with a frightful heave they shot the poor wretch over the precipice. With such force did they throw him that he curved high in the air before beginning to drop. As he vanished from sight the whole assembly, except the guards, rushed forward to the edge of the precipice, and there was a long pause of absolute silence, broken by a mad yell of delight. They sprang about, tossing their long, hairy arms in the air and howling with exultation. Then they fell back from the edge, formed themselves again into line and waited for the next victim.

This time it was Summerlee. Two of his guards caught him by the wrists and pulled him brutally to the front. His thin figure and long limbs struggled and fluttered like a chicken being dragged from a coop. Challenger had turned to the king and waved his hand frantically before him. He was begging, pleading, imploring for his comrade's life. The ape man pushed him roughly aside and shook his head. It was the last conscious movement he was to make upon earth. Lord John's rifle cracked, and the king sank down a tangled red sprawling thing, upon the ground.

"Shoot into the thick of them! Shoot 'em, shoot!" cried my companion. There are strange red deaths in the soul of the most common-place man. I am tender-hearted by nature and have found my eyes moist many a time over the scream of a wounded hare. Yet the blood lust was on me now. I found myself on my feet emptying one magazine, then the other, clicking open the breech to reload, snapping it to again, while cheering and yelling with pure ferocity and joy of slaughter as I did so.

With our four good guns the two of us made a horrible havoc. Both the guards who held Summerlee were down, and he was staggering about like a drunken man in his amazement.

There is no sultana of Turkey. It has not for centuries been the custom of the sultans of Turkey to contract regular marriages. The sultan designates from the inmates of the harem a number—nowadays very limited—of women who are called "Kadin," or full wives; this title is only given however, after a child has been born to the sultan. All children born in the harem, whether their mothers are free or slaves, are legitimate and of equal lineage.

unable to realize that he was a free man. The dense mob of ape men ran about in bewilderment, marveling whence this storm of death was coming or what it might mean. They waved, gesticulated, screamed and tripped up over those who had fallen. Then, with a sudden impulse, they all rushed in a howling crowd to the trees for shelter, leaving the ground behind them spotted with their stricken comrades.

All the prisoners were left for the moment standing alone in the middle of the clearing.

Challenger's quick brain had grasped the situation. He seized the bewildered Summerlee by the arm, and they both ran toward us. Two of their guards bounded after them and fell to two bullets from Lord John. We ran forward into the open to meet our friends and pressed a loaded rifle into the hands of each. But Summerlee was at the end of his strength. He could hardly totter. Already the ape men were recovering from their panic. They were coming through the brushwood and threatening to cut us off. Challenger and I ran Summerlee along one at each of his elbows, while Lord John covered our retreat, firing again and again at savage heads snarled at us out of the bushes. For a mile or more the chattering brutes were at our very heels. Then the pursuit slackened, for they learned our power and would no longer face that muzzling rifle.

When we had at last reached the camp we looked back and found our selves alone.

In less than half an hour we had reached our brushwood retreat and concealed ourselves. All day we heard the excited calling of the ape men in the direction of our old camp, but none of them came our way, and the three fugitives, red and white, had a long deep sleep.

We had imagined that our pursuers the ape men, knew nothing of our brushwood hiding place, but we were soon to find out our mistake. There was no sound in the woods—not a leaf moved upon the trees and all was peace around us—but we should have been warned by our first experience how cunningly and how patient these creatures can watch and wait until their chance comes. Whatever fate may be mine through life, I am very sure that I shall never be nearer death than I was that morning. I missed one of the Indians who had had tied with us and asked where he was.

"He has gone to fetch some water," said Lord Roxton. "We fitted him up with an empty beef tin, and he is off."

"To the old camp?" I asked. "No, to the brook. It's among the trees there. It can't be more than a couple of hundred yards. But the beggar is certainly taking his time."

"I'll go and look after him," said I. I picked up my rifle and strolled in the direction of the brook, leaving my friends to lay out the scanty breakfast.

GET BIG END OF 10 TO 3 SCORE

Martinsburg Falls before Battering of Gettysburg Ponies and their Hold on First Place is Weakening.

To the delight of Gettysburg fans, the Ponies hit their real stride on Friday, banished the Jinx, and trounced the fast traveling Martinsburg aggregation 10-3. Fifteen safe hits tell the story of Gettysburg's batsmen who drove Hoeffecker from the mound and treated Mumford little better.

Baker pitched for Gettysburg and gave but three hits. These, coupled with five bases on balls, gave Martinsburg their tallies early in the game. After that he was invincible.

The Ponies played a fast game in the field and the Martinsburg fans had a real surprise in seeing just what a fast aggregation Manager Plank and his associates have gathered. Either Plank or Longacre will pitch to-day.

The Ponies will play at home the first four days next week, with Martinsburg Monday and Tuesday, and with Hagerstown Wednesday and Thursday. Coupons to be accepted must not be presented without the books.

Mr. Retailer, a Word, Please!

One thing you pay rent for is your store window.

Do you make it pay dividends?

Does it show a profit?

It should. If it does not it is your fault.

Here is one way to make it pay—a mighty certain way.

Read the newspapers. When you see articles you have in stock advertised, show them.

Show them at the time the advertising is running.

Tie your store up to the dealer's newspaper advertising.

That will bring the newspaper reader into your store and that means business.

AUSTRIANS DRIVE ITALIANS BACK

Hurl Foe Over the Border and Take Town.

VERDUN FIGHTING RENEWED

Germans Hurl 24,000 Men on French at Avocourt Wood and Hill 304, West of Meuse.

London, May 20.—Although the Austrian offensive on the Italian front is meeting with stiffer resistance than at the outset, ground is still being wrested from General Cadorna's forces, which, according to unofficial reports, have at points been pushed back as much as five miles.

The main line of attack is in the southern Tyrol, where the recent near approach to the Italians to Rovereto had threatened that place, a key position in the defense of Trent. The latest report from Vienna shows continued progress for the Austrians in the valleys southeast of Rovereto, their forces crossing the frontier by capturing the Magglo ridge and working into Italian territory as far as Costabella, which was captured.

Counter attacks by the Italians have not resulted in any territory being won back from the Austrians, according to the Vienna war office, which also claims the capture of more than 900 additional prisoners, together with eighteen cannons and machine guns. The total of Italian prisoners now exceeds 7000. The Austrian losses are declared to have been small.

The Austrian report states: Although the Austro-Hungarians massed approximately 500,000 men and hundreds of big guns for their drive against the Italians, it was declared by Rome military experts that the offensive had been checked.

It is reported that German army officers helped plan the Austro-Hungarian offensive and that the drive was decided upon at the recent council held in Vienna.

After a brisk bombardment of the Italian lines the Austro-Hungarians using the mass formation tactics of the Germans, attacked the Italian position in the Ledero Valley, in the La Garina Valley, in the Valley of the Upper Astico, on the Upper Cordevole and north of Monfalcone.

Except at a few advanced points the Italians withdrew voluntarily for strategic reasons. The Austro-Hungarian forces sustained severe losses.

Fighting on Large Scale at Verdun.

Violent fighting on a large scale was resumed on the Verdun front. Two fresh divisions (24,000 men) of German troops attacked French positions at Avocourt wood and Hill 304 west of the Meuse. The war office announces the attacks in the main were unsuccessful, although the Germans obtained a footing in a small post south of Hill 287.

The Germans attempted to recapture the small fort on the east slope of Hill 264 which the French took on the preceding day, but their effort failed.

Infantry fighting was confined for the most part to the sector west of the Meuse. East of the river and in the Woivre the artillery was active.

The French official statement says that the troops employed by the Germans in their attacks had recently been sent to the Verdun front.

According to the Berlin war office French trenches on both sides of the Haucourt-Esnes high road have been captured by the Germans. Nine French officers and 120 men were taken prisoners. The announcement says the captured French positions extend to the neighborhood of the southern corner of Ducks wood.

Sub-Lieutenant Navarre, one of the best known French aviators, who recently engaged in a fight with five German aeroplanes, brought down his tenth machine in an aerial combat at Dolante in the Argonne.

WAR OFFICE HALTS LYNCH'S EXECUTION

Grants President Wilson's Plea For Delay.

London, May 20.—The British war office has intervened to hold the execution of the death sentence passed on Jeremiah C. Lynch, the American citizen convicted by court-martial of participating in the Irish revolt.

A plea for delay in the case was made by President Wilson.

The war office sent the following telegram to General Maxwell:

"If the facts are as stated the execution is to be postponed."

The news that Lynch had been convicted by court-martial was received yesterday by the embassy from the American consul in Dublin. Previous to this, the last news the embassy had of Lynch was that under the defense of the realm act he was prohibited from leaving the five-mile zone of Dublin.

Lynch has been a resident of Dublin for some time. Dario Figgis, the Irish poet, has been arrested in Ireland in connection with the revolt, it was announced. Figgis is in a military barracks in county Mayo.

A despatch from Tralee, Ireland, says that John Goodwin, a pilot, is under arrest. It is believed his case is connected with the landing of Sir Roger Casement.

Pittsburgh Steel Mills Unable to Assure Delivery.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 20.—Inability of local mills to assure delivery for nearly a year has resulted in failure to place $1,000,000 worth of business here in the last few days.

The foreign trade commission of Pittsburgh received a cable inquiry from Japan for 12,000 tons of wire rods which at the present price is valued at more than $720,000, but none of the manufacturers in the Pittsburgh district could accept the order.

The commission also has received an inquiry for 200 tons of steel plates on a cash basis and for steel wire valued at $200,000, but the order could not be placed.

TWO BOYS DROWNED

Freed From School They Lose Lives While Boating.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 20.—Cleverness in school work cost two boys their lives when William Lamb, fourteen years old, of Cheswick, and Joseph Mishkowsky, fifteen years old, of Springdale, were drowned in the Allegheny river, at Springdale.

They had been exempted from final examinations because their marks were so good as to eliminate them from that function and they went in search of botanical specimens for the school study. They borrowed a boat and while rowing up the river lost control of the boat, which went over No. 3 dam and upset.

When the Cat Was Sacred.

In the middle ages brute animals formed as prominent a part in the devotional ceremonies of the time as they had in the old religion of Egypt. The cat Aelurus was embalmed after death and buried in the city of Bubastis because, according to Herodotus, Diana Bubastis, the chief deity of the place, was said to have transformed herself into a cat when the gods fled into Egypt.

Not True Character. Make no mistake. The man who seeks to cultivate certain qualities of character primarily for the sake of the concrete success he believes will result from their exercise, is foredoomed to failure; such a character, from its very inception, is a sham, and character and resultant effects of service, and success, will some day under the stress of adverse circumstance, crumble into dust together.

In Quietness. There comes a time when all efforts of our own seem vain; when whatever we do seems to work harm. Or we are fretted by the crowd of duties which press upon us so we cannot cope with them, and threaten to overwhelm us. Let us leave them all for a little while and sit still. With the quiet will come refreshment and renewed energy. Sometimes not doing but patient waiting is our duty.

More Common Sense Needed. Before our children draw their first breath we start closing in upon them with every kind of theory. Theories to the right of them, theories to the left of them, they are often victims, as really as were the immortal Six Hundred to the fact that "Someone has blundered." PEARL
Resists Them All—

Genuine Gilbert & Bennett PEARL Wire Cloth is built to resist the ravages of the elements that combine to render common "galvanized" and "painted" screens worthless in most no time at all.

It is as near rust-proof as metal can be made. Rendered so by a wonderful metallic coating, the composition and application of which is exclusive with the Gilbert & Bennett Mfg. Co.

When you consider the fact that frames and labor are the biggest cost items in screens, you can't afford to put in any material that will not give the absolute maximum of wear and satisfaction. Genuine Gilbert & Bennett PEARL Wire Cloth is insurance against replacement and a warrant of satisfaction.

BARBERLESS BARBER SHOP.

Automat "Shaveteria" Makes Hit With Chicagoans.

A barberless automat where persons in need of a shave can smooth their own faces and wash, perfume and powder themselves is making Chicagoans sit up and take notice. The barberless shop has just opened and is already proving a delight to men who detest the ordeal of the barber shop.

This "shaveteria" or "shave automat," as it has been variously styled, is a decided novelty. Small stalls are arranged around a central plaza that contains a fountain which sprays hot and cold water. Here are talcum powder, perfumes and all of the other appurtenances of a barber shop.

After the customer has shaved he throws 10 cents into a receptacle in the stall and marches forth. The management guarantees a saving of time, tips and talk.

A charter which will return to the owners of the schooner Augustus H. Babcock $80,000 for a voyage, or $3,000 more than the cost of construction, was closed in Boston the other day. This is believed by maritime authorities to be the highest charter rate ever paid for a sailing vessel of the Babcock's size, 1,200 tons net. She will carry a cargo of rum to the west coast of Africa.

PARTY PLATFORM WORRYING G. O. P.

Faces Delicate Task In Outlining Its Foreign Policies.

WHERE DIFFICULTY ARISES.

Many Republicans Have Approved of Wilson's Course in Dealing With Submarine Issue on One Hand, While on the Other Some Have Severely Criticized Him--Road Bill Sure to Pass.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 20.—[Special.]—The Republican national convention is not only going to have some difficulty in the selection of a candidate, but it has a hard task before it in the matter of writing a platform. Of course the general subjects which have been the cardinal principles of the Republican party for many years can easily be incorporated, and there will be no great difficulty about a tariff plank, which has often caused a great deal of controversy. But there are other subjects which will give the committee on resolutions a great deal of concern.

One of these is the plank regarding the foreign policy of the administration as it relates to the war in Europe. Quite a number of men who will have a great deal to say about the making of the platform have supported many of President Wilson's foreign policies, practically all of them with the exception of his dealings with Mexico.

Where the Difficulty Arises.

The difficulty arises over the question of the treatment of Wilson's notes to Germany. If these notes are not condemned there will have to be a suggestion as to what should have been said. Shall the platform go as far as Colonel Roosevelt would have it in denouncing Germany and thus offend the large body of German voters in the Republican party? On the other hand, should the platform criticize the policy in regard to Great Britain?

It is not difficult to criticize an administration by the opposition party in regard to treatment of questions purely domestic. But when it comes to dealing with our foreign relations there is such a tendency to stand by what ever administration is in power that it is not always wise for the opposition party to be too critical.

Making the Road Bill.

The bill which the senate passed for good roads was so different from that which was passed by the house that the conferees found it necessary to re-construct a measure of their own. It is quite possible that when the bill finally returns from conference it will be so different from that passed by either house that neither house will recognize it. One fact seems certain--there is to be a roads bill before the present session ends.

They Go to See McAdoo.

Secretary McAdoo is the busiest man connected with the administration. All the politicians go to see McAdoo if they can get to see him. Not only has he to look after the business of the treasury--and there are a great many things pending in congress which demand his attention--but he is also obliged to take the lead in everything political. It is believed that the president relies implicitly upon McAdoo in the management of all political matters.

A Regular Delegate.

Former Senator Chauncey M. Depew holds the record for attendance as a delegate at national conventions. He commenced going to Republican national conventions in 1864 and has been a delegate to every convention since that time, with two exceptions. He will be one of the active men in the coming convention, a man who never allows his years to fade him.

The Speaker in Debate.

Champ Clark is quite well satisfied with his job as speaker as long as he cannot get anything better. There is only one thing he regards as better, and that is the presidency, which was snatched away from him at Baltimore in 1912. But, although he is speaker, he itches to get into the debates and occasionally goes down on the floor for the purpose of speaking on one thing or another.

They Must Have Money.

A railroad man, speaking of the various propositions that are pending in congress affecting railroad interests, made this sage remark: "One dead certain thing is the railroads must have money. If they don't get it in one place they will get it in another. If the government cuts off their revenue from one source, either by reducing rates or some other method, then the roads must make charges in other directions, for they have got to have money to pay their running expenses." He went on to explain that a railroad was not like some other business concern, as it had to keep going. A railroad could not be abandoned.

One of the Wise Men.

The senate always endeavors to have a wise man, a man whose judgment and opinion are of great weight. Such a man was the late Senator Platt of Connecticut. His successor in this particular is Senator Dillingham of Vermont. The Vermont senator does not talk much, but he is the substantial man to whom the Republicans go when they want to talk about difficult problems and desire the best advice.

Water Power in Japan.

Japan obtains more than 2,000,000 horsepower from its streams by nearly 400 hydro-electric plants.

Just a Part of Machine.

Florence's father, who lives in a small town, owns a two-seated runabout in which Florence and her mamma took many rides. When they went to the city for a visit Florence was in wonderland. Her uncle, who was driving them around in his seven-passenger machine, turned to her and said: "Your papa has a machine, hasn't he?" and little Florence replied: "He only has the front part of one."

Only Temporary.

A man whose married life had not been of the happiest lay dying. Calling his wife to his bedside, he promised to leave all his worldly possessions to her on one condition, that being that she would erect a tombstone and inscribe on it, "At rest." This she faithfully promised, but, finding nothing had been left her, she added to the above epitaph, "Till I come."

Optimistic Thought.

Had justice always ruled mercy had been unknown.
